

PRESS RELEASE 21 July 2009

An elegant “no-boundaries” flat uses the Eclisse sliding doors
Enhancing maneuverability without compromising the final design

An airy and elegant open-space house for a disabled person has been completed using some Eclisse sliding door systems.

The main objective of the architects was both to create a no-boundaries home, allowing a better quality of life to its wheelchair owner, and to guarantee an elegant design that matches the classical style of the building. The use of the Eclisse sliding door systems was essential in achieving the result.

The 200sq m flat is situated on one floor only and has wide-door aperture rooms (up to 2m) which give an airy and light feeling to the house.

Three double sliding door systems have been used in the bedroom, in the living room and in the kitchen; while three single ones have been installed in the smaller rooms like the bathroom and the cloakroom.

The Eclisse sliding door systems have been supplied with a motorized unit which greatly increases the maneuverability. Contained within the framework (not visible externally) it can be controlled by a number of input variables such as self-return switch, radar, photocell, remote control.

To enhance the traditional building design, the owner chose some classic white wooden doors which work perfectly with the Eclisse sliding door system.

Ends

- Founded in 1989 in Treviso, Italy, Eclisse is Europe's largest sliding door manufacturer with distributors all over the world. As a leading sliding door company, Eclisse's portfolio includes Manchester City Football Club, Beatles' Story Museum and Philip Starck and Jade Jagger's house in the lakes just to mention a few.
- Eclisse sliding pocket door framework is made from high quality galvanized steel with a patented extractable track. This top hung system uses an ingenious frame-mounted, self-centering guide that removes the need for a bottom threshold allowing an uninterrupted floor surface below.

Designers: Mercè de las Heras, Pau de las Heras, Pablo Zozzaro

For more information about Eclisse, further images or to discuss the possibility of viewing examples of the product, please contact:

Stefania Del Zotto
Eclisse UK
Tel. +44.01507.523838
Email info@eclisse.co.uk
Web www.eclisse.co.uk